

Grilling Dinner

Jill's father loves to grill their dinner. He will grill in any weather. It must be a thrill for him to grill. Even if there is a chill, Jill's father will be outside at the grill. One night there was a storm and still he grilled. He did not get ill. He never has his fill of standing at the grill. He would even walk up a hill so he could grill. Jill's father's grill does not have any frills. It is a plain grill. He grills with skill though. The food is always tasty.
