

The Town Well

In the town was a well. The people lined up there every day to get water. Some children would get water at the well. They would get it to sell. The water from the well did not smell. It was fresh. At the top of the well was a bell. A string went from the bell into the well. If someone fell into the well, they could ring the bell. They could also yell. Then, someone would come and tell them how to get out of the well.
