

The Cycle of Recycling

It is good to recycle. Recycling helps the Earth. When we recycle, we reuse things. This makes them last longer. If you throw away a soda can, it gets sent to the dump. You could recycle it instead. It will be made into another can. Then, someone can recycle that can. It will be made into yet another can. And on and on. Many young people know to recycle. Older people must relearn how to throw things away. Everyone should review what they do. We can refresh the Earth if we recycle.
